

WARRANTY

Defective products will be replaced for free within three years of the date of purchase. Products may receive updates over time, and TRL Automotive reserves the right to exchange a product with a newer revision of the same product. In the event a replacement product is unavailable, a prorated refund based on the purchase price and the remainder of the three-year warranty period will be issued. Please CONTACT US prior to requesting a warranty exchange, and we'll do our best to make the process painless.

TRL Automotive does not guarantee device compatibility with any future vehicle hardware or software revisions. We make every effort to design our products to ensure they continue to function properly after a vehicle manufacturer applies a software or hardware update. However, issues introduced by a vehicle software or hardware update from any source are beyond our control and are not warrantable.
